

They still need your help!

Each of the eight puppies infected with parvovirus is still with us! They're doing their best to fight off the horrible disease that's attacking their tiny bodies. Three of the puppies have good appetites, but the other five are struggling to keep anything down. All but one now have an IV catheter, our staff is syringe feeding a few of them and they're all receiving appetite stimulants and anti-nausea medications.

Treating puppies with parvovirus is incredibly expensive. We expect it to cost $8,600 to keep these puppies alive. Thanks to your generous donations, we have already raised $6,100.

We need your help to raise the remaining $2,500 needed to give these puppies a second chance at life.

Please help us raise the remaining $2,500 for the parvo puppies!

Donate

Donate with PayPal

If we're lucky enough to exceed our goal, all additional funds will go towards operational costs to care for animals in need.

---

Check out our adoptable pets!

Visit our website

HOURS:
Monday - Sunday 12pm - 6pm
Walk-Ins Welcome!

Share This Email

Share This Email

Share This Email

Unsubscribe eswecker@caspca.org

Constant Contact Data Notice

Sent by caspca@caspca.org in collaboration with

Try email marketing for free today!