Mock In Home Training	How will we manage poor behavior during this training?	Back Tie, Bite Gloves, Drag Leash, Muzzle	Use a chain leash or metal back-tie attached to the leg of the tub and the dog's collar. For very mouthy dogs, use bite gloves during training to prevent bites and scratches. Have the dog drag their leash while they walk around freely in the room. Acclimate to a Muzzle.
Mock In Home Training	What behaviors will we train?	Automatic Leave It, Bite Inhibition, Crate Training, Do Nothing Training	Auto Leave It: Teach the dog "Leave it" using lower value treats on the tables. Use higher value treats as a reward for leaving the treats on the tables alone. Never allow dogs to eat treats off the table. Bite Inhibition: Pet the dog calmly and allow the dog to mouth your hand and arms. As soon as you feel teeth on your skin, stop petting the dog and walk away. You may need to use a back-tie or bite gloves for very mouthy dogs. Reward the dog for licking instead of mouthing. Crate Training: Train the dog to go in and out of the crate on cue. Practice leaving the dog in the crate for longer and longer durations. Practice leaving the room while the dog is in the crate. Do Nothing Training: Practice sitting in the room and ignoring the dog. The dog may have a chew toy, food puzzle, or some other thing to occupy them. They should be ignored and now allowed on the furniture. This should be done for a minimum of 15 minutes at a time.

Jumpy/Mouthy Training Plan	How will we reduce stress and prevent practicing the behavior?	Back tie to fence while training., Calm Handling Only, Chain Leash, Keep leash high on dog's neck behind their ears.	Back tie the dog to the fence in the yards while working with the dog. If they start jumping and mouthing, step out of their reach immediately. Once they calm down you can start training them again. No rough play. Slow petting and puppy massage only. The chain leash makes biting leash less enjoyable. Keep the leash out of the dog's face and high on the neck to avoid the dog grabbing the leash.
Jumpy/Mouthy Training Plan	How will we address the underlying cause of the behavior?	Basic Obedience, BAT Walks, Impulse Control Games, Protocol for Relaxation, Real World Training	BAT Walks to allow him freedom to sniff and decompress. Practice impulse control games during any interaction with the dog. Practice Protocol for Relaxation beginning in the Groom Room and them moving to other areas of the building and outdoors. Basic manners training to teach him how to correctly interact with people. Offsite fieldtrips to practice basic manners and socialization.
